Viewing the Dead.

The Remains of Jefferson Davis Lying in State.

THOUSANDS VISIT THE HALL.

The Entire City of New Orleans Draped in Mourning—Arrangements for the Funeral all Complete—The War Department Officially Notified, But Take No Action.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 9.—Sunday morning at 10 o'clock the doors of the Municipal building, where the body of Jefferson Davis is exposed, were thrown open and thousands of citizens thronged into the broad passage and were escorted into the council chamber, where they were permitted to look on the features of the illustrious dead. It was one endless stream of ladies and gentlemen and little children. Every walk of life was represented.

Decorators are now at work all over the city and business houses and private residences are being draped in mourning. The entire city now wears a mourning dress. Detachments from the battalion of Washington artillery and from the city police are still on duty and the most perfect order is preserved. At 10 o'clock Sunday morning the army of Tennessee sent a detachment of veterans and they will remain on duty.

At midnight Saturday night Mr. Erazee, a sculptor, reached the city hall, and having obtained permission from Mrs. Davis, commenced to take a plaster of Paris cast of Mr. Davis face. He worked until 4 o'clock in the morning when he completed his labors. The cast will be used for a statue to be erected at Atlanta, Ga.

Col. D. M. Hollingsworth, Sunday morning, brought to the hall an old rifle used by him during the Mexican war, which he exposed alongside of the body. The weapon, which is in excellent condition, bears the following inscription: "Buena Vista, Feb. 23, 1847. K. First Sergeant, D. M. Hollingsworth, Company A, First Mississippi Rifles, Col. Jeff. Davis."

These rifles were given to the members of the Mississippi Rifles who served in the Mexican war by act of congress. As Col. Hollingsworth deposited the old weapon near the coffin of his old commander he began to weep. The scene was a most affecting one, and moved many of the spectators to tears. The mayor and all of the city officials were present all morning, but nothing was done as the arrangements for the funeral are now complete.

The program agreed on embraces a funeral procession which will include all the civic and military organizations in the city. The corpse will be conveyed to the Metairie cemetery, two miles and a half from the heart of the city, and the procession will march the entire distance.

The body was photographed Sunday morning by Charles H. Adams, who also took a view of the death chamber and the interior and exterior of the city hall. The pictures will be used in a history of the obsequies shortly to be published.

Many churches of this city held memorial services in honor of Jefferson Davis Sunday. Bishop Keener of the Methodist church, related anecdotes of the deceased, especially as a visitor to the annual seashore camp meeting.

Yesterday the shipping in the harbor generally dipped their flags out of respect to the distinguished dead, the British steamships especially carrying their colors at half-mast.

The widow of Jefferson Davis has written a card for publication, stating that it is a physical impossibility for her to answer the thousands of telegrams of condolence that have poured in from all parts of the United States. She, therefore, takes this means of expressing her appreciation of the profound sympathy exhibited by so many of Mr. Davis' friends to his bereaved and grateful family.

War Department Officially Notified.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Secretary Proctor Saturday received the following telegram from Mayor Shakespeare, notifying him of the death of Jefferson Davis:

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 7.

To the Honorable Secretary of War, Washington, D. C.:

I have officially to inform you that the Hon. Jefferson Davis, at one time secretary of war of the United States, died in this city yesterday. His funeral will take place on Dec. 11, at 12 o'clock, noon.

JAMES A. SHAKESPEARE,

Mayor of New Orleans.

To this dispatch the secretary sent the following response, which he made public:

WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.

Hon. James A. Shakespeare, Mayor of New Orleans:

Your telegram, informing me of the death of Mr. Davis, is received. In refraining from any official action thereon, I would not and hope I do not add to the great sorrow of his family and many friends. It seems to me the right course and the best one for all. You will, I am sure, understand that his adoption is prompted also by a sincere wish and purpose to act in that spirit of peace and good will which should fill the hearts of all our people.

REDFIELD PROCTOR,

Secretary of War.

Anaconda Mine Fire Breaks Out Again.

BUTTE, Mont., Dec. 9.—Sunday morning smoke began to make its appearance in the shaft of the Anaconda mine. It soon became evident that the creating of a draft had fanned the supposed extinguished fire into activity, and orders were at once given to close up the bulkheads again.

British Syndicate to Build a Town.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Dec. 9.—Eighty-six thousand acres of coal and mineral lands in Marion county, Tenn., were purchased Saturday by an English syndicate for the sum of $2,312,000.

FOUR MEN BURNED TO DEATH.

Quarter of a Million of Property Destroyed in New York—Other Fires.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—A fire broke out at the river-end of the National steamship pier, No. 39 North river, shortly before 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The steamship Holland, which arrived that morning, was docked, and a gang of men started to clear the pier so as to make ready for the steamship's cargo. While they were thus working Foreman John Dunn discovered fire among a number of bales of cotton near the end of the pier. About twenty-five men were at work near the spot. Some of them remained to assist in putting out the flames, the others fleeing to the street. Those who stayed behind were badly burned, some fatally. The fire was got under control at 8 o'clock, and 3:15 was entirely out.

The complete list of those killed and injured is as follows:

James Parry, fireman, white, 50 years old.

Richard Johnson, colored, fireman, 45 years old.

George Booker, colored, longshoreman, and James Whalen, white, carpenter.

Seven others were badly burned.

There is only one person unaccounted for out of the two hundred employed on the pier—the elevator boy James McGuire. It is thought, however, that he got out all right and went home.

The loss could not be definitely ascertained, but it is thought it will not exceed $25,000, on which there is a full insurance.

Another fire at No. 36 East Fourteenth street, Sunday morning, caused losses as follows: Dempsey & Carroll, stationers, $100,000; Simpson, Hill, Miller & Company, dealers in silverware, $50,000; Morris Kahn, chocolate manufacturer, $40,000; T. W. Stemmler, importer of satins, $50,000. The fire is believed to have been caused by an explosion of leaking gas.

Valuable Flour Mills Burned.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., Dec. 9.—Saxton & Thomas' flour mill, this city, was burned yesterday. Loss estimated at $250,000; partly insured.

COONEY'S CLOTHES.

They Are Supposed to Have Been Found in Milwaukee.

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 9.—Supposed bloody traces of the Cronin tragedy have been discovered in this city, and are now at Milwaukee police headquarters. They are clothes thought to belong to the missing suspect Cooney, and with them in a trunk were four blood-stained handkerchiefs, a number of photos and a bundle of letters.

Police Captain Schuetzler, of Chicago, made the find, acting on an anonymous letter from Milwaukee, calling attention to the fact that the suspicious articles were in the possession of a Milwaukee expressman, James H. Mooney. Capt. Schuetzler left Milwaukee yesterday, taking with him the letters and photographs. His destination could not be ascertained, and the inference was drawn that he had started to run down a clew furnished by the letters.

On May 38, the Sunday following the discovery of Cronin's body, Expressman Mooney was accosted by a stranger at the Union depot looking for a boarding house. The stranger was taken to Mooney's home and remained there a few days, but went out for a stroll one night with another stranger, and has not since been seen. The boarder forgot to pay his landlord, and never claimed the trunk. The Mooney's broke open the trunk, and the mysterious circumstances have been a matter of gossip in the neighborhood for some time. One of the pictures in the album and Mooney's description of his boarder both tally, it is said, with the missing Cooney.

VESTIBULE TRAIN WRECKED.

An Accident to the Chicago Limited on the Monon Route.

FRANKFORT, Ind., Dec. 9.—The Chicago limited, one of the handsome vestibule trains recently placed on the route between Cincinnati and Chicago by the Monon route, was wrecked shortly after noon yesterday, half a mile south of this city. While running along at about a forty-five miles an hour gait, the rear trucks of the tender left the track, causing a disconnection of the air-brake and leaving the engineer powerless to check the speed. The train went plunging on a trestlework which is about 300 feet in length. Here the baggage car and one coach left the track, and after plowing through the ties and timbers for a few feet, went rolling over into the creek fifteen feet below, completely demolishing them.

The chair and dining cars, although leaving the track, remained hanging to the trestle and were not badly damaged. Baggageman Warren, of Indianapolis, was the only one in his car and escaped with a few bruises and a sprained ankle. In the wrecked coach were four passengers, one of whom, Mrs. Wunder, of Chicago, received an ugly gash over her left temple. The other passengers were only slightly bruised. The damage is estimated at $25,000 to the company. The bridge is an entire wreck and will necessitate a new one, delaying through trains for several days.

Bloody Work by a Jealous Husband.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 9.—Some time ago John Arnold and his wife separated, and Mrs. Arnold applied for a divorce. William Poe began paying some attention to Mrs. Arnold, and last night visited her at her home. About 10 o'clock Arnold entered the house, and shot Poe in the presence of his wife, and fired three shots into his wife's body. Placing the pistol against his own breast he fired and fell to the floor. Outsiders rushed in and prevented him from firing again. Poe is dangerously hurt, and Mrs. Arnold is in a dying condition. Arnold's wound is not serious.

Twenty Years for Horse Stealing.

DECATUR, Ill., Dec. 9.—Zeb Kennard, convicted of horse stealing, was Friday sentenced at Sullivan, Ill., to twenty-four years in the penitentiary.

Program of Congress.

Forecast for the Present Week in Both Houses.

DULL SESSIONS ARE EXPECTED.

No Legislation Liable to Be Enacted by Either Branch—The Centennial Celebration of the Inauguration of the American Congress Will Be Held Wednesday.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—The attention of both houses of congress this week will be centered on the centennial celebration of the inauguration of the American congress to be held in the hall of the house of representatives on Wednesday. The program arranged for the occasion is simple, but the event will gather interest from the circumstance that it will be the first gathering of the people of the new administration, and the first joint meeting of the two houses of the Fifty-first congress.

Tickets for the occasion will be issued to the president and members of congress, and admittance to the capitol on that day will be by card only. The house of representatives will meet at the usual hour and will notify the senate that it is in session. The senate, preceded by the president and vice president, the members of the cabinet, the justices of the supreme court of the United States and other distinguished officials will then proceed to the hall of the house to take part in the exercises there. The Marine band will discourse sweet music, Rev. J. G. Butler, the senate chaplain, will offer the opening prayer, Chief Justice Fuller will deliver an oration and the ceremonies will conclude with the administration of the benediction by Rev. W. H. Milburn, the chaplain of the house. Vice President Morton, the president of the senate, will preside at the speaker's desk during the ceremonies. At their conclusion the senate will return to the senate chamber, where an immediate adjournment will be had. The house will also adjourn without further business.

Unless something unexpected should spring up the senate will transact very little business during the coming week. There is little disposition to proceed to the consideration of regular business until the committees have been re-arranged. The caucus committee will meet to continue this work, but it may take several days to dispose of it. In the meantime there will be the usual flood of old and new bills sent to the clerk's desk every morning. Some resolutions of inquiry may be offered and discussed. It is not unlikely that the nomination of Associate Justice Brewer will be taken up and considered in executive session during the week. The general policy of the Republican senators is to postpone the consideration of all nominations until the holidays are over, but the urgency of this case may appeal to have it excepted from the general rule. The story published during the past week that the Democratic senators have determined to oppose Judge Brewer's confirmation in retaliation for the delay in the consideration of Chief Justice Miller's nomination, is discredited by Republican members of the committee on the judiciary.

The house of representatives will have little to do during the week. Early adjournments will be taken on each day of meeting, and it is hardly likely that any bills will be introduced. The Silcott investigation is the main thing in which the members are interested, and the report of the committee is awaited with a great deal of impatience. Members of the committee think that the investigation will be prolonged beyond the time in which it was believed the investigation could be concluded.

The committee on rules has not yet had a meeting, but should it succeed in organizing and making a report to the house early in the week, there will be good prospects for more lively sessions.

Will Be Taken Back to Death.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 9.—Michael Schiefer, wanted in Pandorf, Bavaria, for a double murder committed Oct. 13, was arrested here Saturday night. Schiefer drowned his stepson to secure an inheritance of 1,600 marks, and when accused of the crime by the child's grandfather, shot him and fled to America. He arrived in Minneapolis two weeks ago and went to work for a farmer named Mark, at Medina Mills. The latter had read of the murder, and, suspecting that Schiefer was the man wanted in Bavaria, brought him to this city Saturday and turned him over to the police. Schiefer broke down and confessed his crime and will be held for extradition.

The President at His Old Home.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 9.—The presidential visitors to the opening of the Chicago auditorium arrived here at noon Saturday. The trip from Pittsburg was without special incident. The president was driven to the residence of Mr. McKee, where he remained all afternoon and evening. The president and party attended church Sunday morning and left for Chicago this morning at 12:40 over the Pennsylvania road. The return to Washington will be by way of Indianapolis, the train passing here Tuesday evening. On the return trip the president will be joined here by his daughter, Mrs. Robert McKee, who will go to the White House for the winter.

Robbed of His Raiment.

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—Raphael Michel, living at 830 West Indiana avenue, was assaulted and robbed last night near the Dearborn street bridge by three unknown men and badly cut about the head. After he had fallen the highwaymen pounced upon him and took his coat, vest, pants, hat and shoes. He was found in this condition by an officer and taken to the Dearborn street engine house, where he was furnished with a suit of clothes and removed to his home. The miscreants made their escape.

THE WASHINGTON LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

OF NEW YORK.

ASSETS, $10,500,000.

Suppose two Life Insurance Companies issue policies for $20,000 each on June, 1889, one company being THE WASHINGTON LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY of New York. The age is thirty years; the annual premium $454 in each company. Suppose at the end of the first year each company declares a dividend of $90 on first annual premium. Suppose the assured omits to pay the second annual premium, due June 1, 1889, on both policies, and by illness or accident dies August 20, 1890.

RESULTS: The Washington Life pays the amount of its policy, $20,000. The other company does not pay its beneficiary a dollar, not even the $90 dividend declared! This is the difference between the policy contract of the Washington Life and that of any other Life Insurance Company.

Don't misunderstand us; The Washington Life is the only company in the United States that would pay one dollar under these circumstances.

This is the Non-Forfeitable Dividend System of the Washington that we wish to impress upon the insuring public. It is the difference between $20,000 and nothing, under the circumstances named, and this non-forfeitable dividend feature of The Washington Life would apply to any renewal period of a policy.

Under the circumstances described, were the policy-holder to fail to pay his premium, while there is a dividend credit, and not die, does any State law, or the policy of any other company, require it to accept the premium and keep the policy in force? No, but the Washington's contract does!

Within the last eight years alone 4,464 policies, insuring $11,502,740, have been saved to policy-holders of the Washington by non-forfeitable dividends.

THE EVENING BULLETIN

DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY.

ROSSER & MCCARTHY,
Proprietors.

MONDAY, DECEMBER, 9, 1889.

The Australian ballot system was given a trial at the election in New Haven, Conn., this week, and the Democrats regained control of the city government. The Republicans will have nothing to do with such a system if it keeps on working this way.

Among the thirty-five notes forged by Silcott, late cashier of Sergeant-at-Arms Leedom of the House of Representatives, was one against Congressman Paynter for the full amount of his November salary. Silcott was a dandy and ought to spend the rest of his days behind prison bars.

The readers and patrons of the Louisville Times, one and all, sincerely regret the retirement of the brilliant Emmitt Logan from the editorial management of that paper. We speak conscientiously and in all truth when we say that the Times under his able management was one of the brightest and most readable papers on our exchange list.

The United States Senate has been in session about a week, but that has been time enough for the introduction of bills the enactment of which would loot the public treasury to the amount of hundreds of millions. Whither are we drifting? Send somebody besides millionaires to the Senate, and then the interests and welfare of the people will be looked after a little more closely.

The Secretary of the Interior has divided Kentucky into six districts for the purpose of taking the eleventh census. A Supervisor will have charge of each district. The Fifth district, of which Mason is a part, is composed of the following counties: Bath, Boyd, Carter, Elliot, Fleming, Floyd, Greenup, Johnson, Lewis, Lawrence, Magoffin, Martin, Mason, Menifee, Montgomery, Morgan, Nicholas, Pike, Powell, Robertson, Rowan and Wolfe counties. Bracken, Campbell, Kenton and Bourbon form a part of the Fourth district.

Congressmen Caught.

A special says John H. Wilson, the new Republican member from Kentucky, is about the only Congressman that was not caught by the Silcott steal. Hedrew $66 of his month's pay, and instead of giving a receipt for the remainder of the $416 he told them to give him a draft, which valuable piece of paper is in the safe at the Sergeant-at-Arms' office. This bit of common business sense has made Brother Wilson famous. The other Kentucky members were caught for about a month's salary each, except Governor McCreary, who had drawn all but $200 of his month's pay.

The exact amount of Hon. Thomas H. Paynter's loss by Silcott's stealings has not been learned. Among the members who lose personal deposits are: Rife, of Pennsylvania, $1,500; J. D. Taylor, of Ohio, $3,000; Boutelle, of Maine, $1,500; Bayne, of Pennsylvania, $1,000; Butterworth, of Ohio, $900; Hermann, of Oregon, $2,500; Pickler, of North Dakota, $800; Farnell, of Nebraska, $2,100, and Owen, of Indiana, $25.

The National law-makers will undoubtedly keep a firmer grip on their cash hereafter.

A SADDENED HOME.

Mrs. Jennie Calhoun, Wife of C. C. Calhoun, Passes Away After a Lingerin' Illness.

Mrs. Jennie Calhoun, whose critical condition was mentioned several times last week, breathed her last Sunday morning at 1 o'clock. She had been ill about two months, suffering from blood-poisoning. All that medical skill and loving hands could do was done, but without avail, and she sank into the sleep of death at the hour named.

Her husband, Mr. Charles C. Calhoun, with three children of tender years, survives her. The deceased was born in March, 1859. In early life she united with the Christian Church, but after her marriage transferred her membership to the M. E. Church, South. A kind-hearted neighbor and friend, a faithful Christian, an affectionate mother and a loving wife, she endeared a large circle of friends to her, and the bereaved family have the sympathy of the community in the great loss they have sustained.

The funeral will take place to-morrow at 10 a. m., at the family residence on Court street, services by Rev. J. E. Wright, pastor of the M. E. Church, South.

A special from Washington City to the Louisville Times says: "The commissions of the postmasters at Danville, Franklin, Lancaster, Lebanon, Maysville, Owensboro, Princeton, Shelbyville and Stanford expire Jan. 12, and the wool-pulling that will soon be on will be fearful to contemplate. There are about $20,000 in salaries that fall from Democratic to Republican hands."

In November, rain or snow fell on thirteen days to a depth of 5.45 inches. The snow for the most part melted as it fell. The month was a disagreeable one, entirely wanting in both bright skies and wind. In the corresponding month, 1888, rain fell on twelve days to a depth of 5.04 inches. There was one light snow fall on the 27th last year, and the early part of the month was very disagreeable. The average precipitation for the month for ten years was four inches and three-tenths.

The city of Wheeling, W. Va., owns its own gas works, and furnishes gas to consumers at 75 cents per thousand feet. The cost of making and distributing the gas is 35½ cents per thousand feet. Out of the profits the public buildings and the streets are lighted without charge, and last year $27,000 was turned into the city treasury. In the light of this showing two things are made apparent: (1) The possibilities of honest and competent management, and (2) the comparative cost of incapacity and mismanagement as illustrated in the general average of gas bills.—Exchange.

The C. and O. has purchased the Hot, Healing and Warm Springs of Virginia. These springs are off the line of the road, but it is proposed to build from Clifton Forge to the Springs. From the nearest point it will require about twenty-two miles. Hotels will be erected at the springs.

It is said to be a fact that C. P. Huntington has sold the C. and O. A Mr. Curtiss tells "Gath," of the Enquirer, that "the road has given Huntington a great deal of trouble, been a source of constant expense and the returns from it are yet to come. The Vanderbilts, with an income of probably $40,000,000 a year in the aggregate, of course must find fields of investment, and this stock seemed to them a legitimate one for a Southern line from the West to the central sea-board."

McDowell's Appointment.

The Nation, published at New York, says: "A Washington despatch reports that the Kentucky politicians in that city have been much moved by the appointment of Mrs. Goodloe, through her son-in-law, to the collectorship of internal revenue left vacant by her husband's death. One of them, Congressman Thomas, is reported to have 'claimed' that the appointment would 'thoroughly' disorganize the Republican party in the State,' and was therefore one not fit to be made, particularly as Mrs. Goodloe is reported to have been left in comfortable circumstances. How the party would be disorganized is not stated, but the assertion suggests curious reflections as to the kind of political party it must be which is disorganized by the appointment of a widow to a small office. What is it that keeps such a party together? What do its voters say to each other when they hear of the appointment which 'disorganizes' them? Do they say that the news has completely changed their views about the tariff, or about negro suffrage, or steamer subsidies, or the fisheries question, or the silver question, or that they feel now that the party has no future, and that some newer and more vigorous organization, with clearer views about the Lexington Collectorship, must take its place? Nothing would be more interesting than an explanation in detail from a practical politician of the way in which a postoffice or appraisership builds a party up, or brings it to defeat or ruin, as the case may be. It would be an absolutely new contribution to political science, and, in fact, would throw a side light on some of the more obscure workings of the human mind."
